MNCPPC Study on Greenbelt East Would Preserve Historic Concept

by Mavis Fletcher

At its meeting on December 21, the Greenbelt city council got a look at a New Greenbelt Study prepared for the city by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission. The study demonstrates how design standards of the historic city of Greenbelt can be implemented in Greenbelt East.

According to the report of City Manager James K. Giese to council, the study recommends that a developing "ring" and "spire" of visual and functional green space be expanded. The "ring" refers to the landscaped median perimeter roads of Hanover Parkway and Mandan Road. The green "spire" would utilize private green spaces within the various subdivisions and go through the center of the neighborhood. It would act as a pedestrian link between the north and south reaches of the neighborhood and connect with historic Greenbelt via the Spellman overpass.

Council forwarded the study for review to the Advisory Planning Board and the Park and Recreation Advisory Board.

CDMA

At a previous meeting, councilmember Thomas X. White had asked for information on 1984 state legislation which authorized municipalities and counties to create commercial district management authorities. The CDMA is allowed to raise funds by use of special assessments on the businesses in the district for promotion, marketing, security, maintenance, or amenities within the district.

Giese noted that the possibility of creating a CDMA in Roosevelt Center had been discussed with the merchants' association there; however, he also noted that the majority of the businesses there do not belong to the association. He expressed concern about the feasibility of a CDMA if it is not supported by

State Representatives To Hold Open House

Senator Leo Green and the 23rd District Delegates—Charles J. "Buzz" Ryan, Joan B. Pitkin and Mary A. Conroy—will host their traditional Open Door meeting for their constituents on Saturday, January 9, from 9:30 to 11 a.m. in the Council Chambers in the Greenbelt Municipal Building.

All citizens of the 23rd District are invited to express their views and concerns on legislative matters facing the state legislature.

most or all of the businesses.

Council decided to schedule a worksession with representatives of the association and the owner of the majority of the buildings to see if support exists for this concept. The worksession date was set for February 9.

Meetings

Other meetings planned were: a worksession to try to produce a joint letter with the city of Bowie regarding proposed roads, particularly the Intercounty Connector (also to be held on February 9 or, if the first meeting lasts too long, on February 10); a January 12 worksession on a request by the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad for regular financial support from the City, and, immediately, help in purchasing a $181,000 pumper truck. This meeting will be held at the fire department. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld also reminded councilmembers that January council meetings would be held on the 11th and 25th and that a worksession on the capital improvements budget (including primarily the expenditure of the bond issue money) was to be held on January 13. Council also scheduled an executive session for January 13 to consider matters relating to the council's goal (adopted earlier in the evening) of acquiring all or as much as possible of Parcel 1.

Other Actions

Mayor pro tem Joseph Isaacs added to the agenda a request by the Fraternal Order of Police to meet with council. He indicated that the FOP wanted to meet with council in advance of SCHOOL SNOW DECISIONS TO BE MADE BY 5 A.M.

The Prince Georges County Public Schools will cooperate with the recommendations of the Snow Emergency Task Force of the Washington Area Council of Governments and standardize the 5 a.m. decision deadline for delayed openings and closings.

This essentially means that announcements of delayed openings and closings will also be made available earlier to area radio and television stations for news broadcasts. Parents and students should listen for these broadcasts and not call individual schools or offices.

The absence of such announcements means that the Prince Georges County Public Schools are opening on time.

Decisions about closings and delayed openings take into consideration risks to the safety of students — both individual walkers and bus riders. Therefore, the decisions may be based at times on conditions that are unique to the public school system, and its operation of school facilities.

the budget cycle to discuss budget items of importance to the police. However, Sgt. John A. Lann, newly elected president of FOP Lodge 32, asked for individual meetings with each council member to "open lines of communication" and to discuss the "real concerns" of the FOP membership away from the constraints of a public meeting.

Councilmember Antoinette Bram demurred at this, saying that she "doesn't operate alone." She preferred to meet with the FOP in a worksession, she said. White, on the other hand, said that he discusses issues with many residents without the presence of other council members. Weidenfeld also endorsed the concept that each council member could meet with the executive board of the FOP if he or she wishes to do so.

Miscellaneous

Council also:

— Authorized the mayor to execute an agreement giving the state police authority to act within Greenbelt. Under state law, the state police cannot take action within the city without such authorization.

— Received a petition from Greenbelt Homes, Inc. regarding sidewalk improvements at Ridge and Crescent Roads.

— Gave first reading to an ordinance setting up a Capital Projects Fund enabling the city manager and city treasurer to transfer, invest and manage funds not needed to meet current obligations. The money involved includes certain reserve funds, including reserves for capital improvements, the North End Center and building construction. GHI Board to Require Maintenance on Additions

by Mavis Fletcher

A new policy on maintenance of additions was one of the actions taken at the December 17 meeting of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. Under the new policy, all additions will eventually be brought under the GHI maintenance program.

The matter of maintenance of additions had been brought up at the December 3 meeting and the draft regulations sent back to the staff for revision. At the meeting on December 17, a four-part policy was adopted (1) proposed additions submitted to GHI for approval after February 1 must be included in the Maintenance Program; (2) after a grace period for sales contracts signed before April 1, existing additions must be included in the Maintenance Program upon resale; (3) a new rate structure was adopted; (4) decks, patios, and certain other structures (at the discretion of management) will be excluded from the Maintenance Program.

A proposed fifth point in the new policy would have addressed the appearance of some additions. Director Alan Freas insisted that the proposed language concerned aesthetics, not maintenance. His view finally prevailed and the fifth part of the draft was deleted on a 6-1 vote with Director Wayne Williams opposed.

Williams had also tried to get screened porches deleted from the structures covered since, he said, such structures (particularly the floors) require a great deal of maintenance. The vote on his motion to exclude such structures was 3-4 with Freas and Director Ray McCawley supporting Williams. (Director Andrea Haslinger was excused from the meeting.)

The new rates for maintenance of additions will be six cents (up from the current five cents) per square foot per month for closed, heated additions and three cents per square foot per month for sun rooms, screened porches, and unheated areas. An additional charge will be levied for each plumbing fixture and new waste line. According to GHI Manager Ron Colton, plumbing maintenance is the most frequently requested service under the present Optional Addition Maintenance Program.

Parcel 1

Colton provided the board with a detailed report on the December 8 city council worksession on Parcel 1, the large undeveloped tract of land abutting GHI homes in the North End where development now threatens to bring greatly increased traffic through GHI neighborhoods.

Board members raised several questions to which no one appeared to have answers. Williams wanted to know about sewer capacity in the city. He warned that if the proposed development takes all the sewer capacity, the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission would "be in GHI neighborhoods tearing up sewers to enlarge them."

The board discussed what steps it should or could take to encourage the city in its efforts to acquire the land. The board did not take any actions to further that goal since as McCawley

Bodner, an avid runner for many years, had been out running on New Year's Day morning, but had stopped near the corner of Ridge and Eastway to talk with a friend for several minutes when he collapsed.

An original resident of Empire place, Bodner had lived with his family at the home in Lakewood since 1959. He was active in St. Gregory Byzantine Catholic Church in Beltsville for many years. He also assisted the Greenbelt Running Club on race days, frequently directing traffic in front of St. Hugh's for the safety of runners. He and his wife, Mary Jane, had just returned from California where they visited their first grandson. Bodner served in the army during World War II. He was an analyst for the U.S. Department of Defense.

In addition to his wife, survivors include daughters Deborah Vara, Denise and Diane, and sons Robert and Daniel; brothers Michael and Norman; and one grandchild.

Services were held Tuesday, January 5, at St. Gregory Byzantine Catholic Church with burial at Gate of Heaven Cemetery in Silver Spring.

How Fortunate We Are

To the Editor:

On Friday, January 1, an unfortunate occurrence took place in front of our house on Ridge Road. A man suffered a heart attack. Lately I've heard about how uncaring some Greenbelters are. It was a great sight to see how people stopped and worked together in an attempt to save this man's life.

The police emergency line was called to get an ambulance, and the response time was fantastic. I just wanted to take this chance to say how fortunate we are to live in Greenbelt where people do care and we have the excellent emergency services that exist here.

GHI Board Con't

ley phrased it, the motions already passed and presented to the city council were "pretty specific." These motions, passed at the board's December 3 meeting, called on council to acquire the tract as parkland, along with Parcel 2 (a smaller tract near Hamilton Place). Member Nathan Shinderman counseled staying in very close touch with the city council but not taking any steps which "would preempt council's approaches."

NCB Stock

The board heard a report on the amount of various types of stock in the National Cooperative Bank now held by GHI. According to Colton's report, GHI now owns 1,427,797 shares of Class B stock and 2,359,122 shares of Class C stock. Except for an initial stock purchase required to obtain the $13.7 million rehabilitation loan, the stock has been acquired through patronage dividends from NCB. Class B stock, according to Colton, cannot be valued because the bank does not allow it to be sold and no dividends are paid on it by the bank. Class C stock, while it may not be sold and does not bear dividends at this time, is to be registered with the Securities Exchange Commission and may be salable or may bear dividends in the future. In addition to the stock, GHI has received almost $745,000 in cash patronage dividends from NCB since 1984.

Other Actions

The board voted unanimously to approve a recognition agreement with Citicorp Savings of Washington, D.C. so that Citicorp can make share loans on GHI units.

The board also approved the 1988 expenditure authorization in the amount of $4,907,153. Under a suspension of the rules, the authorization was passed for first and second reading. The 1988 budget had been approved.

Police BlotterBased on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

Three patrons of the Greenbelt Hilton were robbed there at gunpoint about 9:30 p.m., December 30. The first victim, when he got on an elevator, was met by two armed men with handguns. They took from him a quantity of cash but, not satisfied with the amount, forced him to take them to a room where two of his companions were staying. When the door was opened in answer to his knock, the robbers burst in and, now holding the three victims at gunpoint, robbed them of cash and jewelry, then locked the men in the bathroom. The robbers proceeded then to ransack the room, then fled. The victims were freed a short time later by a security guard. The first suspect was described as black, wearing a long gray calf-length coat and a gray "safari" hat. The second was black, wearing a mustard-colored calf-length coat.

Assorted property valued at more than $1800 dollars was stolen December 30 from an apartment in the 5800 block of Cherrywood Lane. The apartment was broken into in an unspecified manner.

An apartment in the 6000 block of Springhill Drive was broken into during the day on December 23 by forcing a sliding patio door. Nothing was reported missing.

An alert resident in the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway called police when he heard an auto alarm sounding about 11 p.m. December 23. The resident had seen a man fleeing from a parked car jump into a waiting car driven by a second man. The suspects were seen to flee in a late-model gray Chevy Monte Carlo. Responding officers found that a 1986 Chevy Monte Carlo had been broken into in an attempt to steal it. The officers made an extensive search but the suspects were not found.

HERPES EYE INFECTION

There are two types of herpes virus. One causes genital infections. The other, not related to the first, sometimes causes cold sores in or around the mouth. It can also result in a severe blinding eye disease (keratitis).

The ophthalmologist can stain the cornea with a dye which fluoresces with ultraviolet light, and will show any damage by a specific recognizable pattern.

Treatment consists of special prescription eye drops and ointments which interfere with virus reproduction (replication). Some cases may respond in two to three weeks, however, entrenched cases may require treatment for months. Recurrences are common, and usually require several repetitive treatments. Cortisone eye drops should be avoided, they can make the disease worse, like pouring gasoline on a fire.

Today, because of early diagnosis and prompt treatment with newer, stronger medications, most cases of ocular herpes can be cured.

Dr. Ray Vidal

What Is Pericoronitis?

Pericoronitis is inflammation of the gum surrounding a partially erupted tooth. Although it can occur around any erupting tooth, it is mostly associated with lower third molars (wisdom teeth). In many cases there is pain, swelling and difficulty in opening the mouth.

Relief of these symptoms is usually achieved by irrigation of the affected area with warm water, or other solution as determined by your dentist. Continuous cleaning of the area, especially after meals, is essential. In severe cases, an antibiotic may be prescribed.

When the acute symptoms subside, you should return to your dentist for evaluation of the area, to determine how to prevent a reoccurrence. If a flap of gum tissue exists, it may be desirable to have it removed, a very quick and simple procedure done with local anesthesia. In the case of a wisdom tooth, x-ray and visual evaluation must be made to determine if the tooth can actually fully erupt. If unable to fully erupt properly, it should be removed as soon as possible. Failure to do so will only lead to repeated episodes and unnecessary discomfort.

CITY COUNCIL

Center, expressed uneasiness about the concept of transferring money earmarked for that fund. She charged that North End School renovation funds had vanished earlier into the General Fund. Weidenfeld tried to cut short her remarks on the grounds that discussion on a first reading was out of order (even for council members). He assured her that she would have ample opportunity to discuss the issue at the next meeting. Despite his efforts, Pisano got her point across.

Supported the efforts of surrounding jurisdictions to require coverings on trucks. Isaacs, who put the item on the agenda, noted that New Carrollton recently passed an ordinance requiring all trucks passing through the city to be covered. Montgomery County also recently passed such a county law. City Solicitor Robert A. Manzi said that state law preempts the law of lower jurisdictions. He voiced the opinion that such regulation by cities or counties probably would not be upheld. Nevertheless, council voted to urge the county to enact such a law and to support efforts to pass a state law requiring trucks to be covered. Council also voted to have a covered truck administrative policy, which would require all Greenbelt city trucks to be covered.

Deferred taking up the city auditors' report for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Genetically New Organism Subject of Public Hearing

The proposed outdoor release of a genetically engineered organism on a test plot in the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC) will be discussed at a public forum on January 14 at 8 p.m. at High Point High School.

The test, if approved by the appropriate federal agencies, could begin next spring on a one acre plot at BARC, operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service. It would be the first field release of genetically engineered organism in Maryland.

A private firm, Crop Genetics International of Hanover, Md., genetically engineered a bacterium that lives inside corn stalks to produce a natural insecticide against European corn borers—a pest costing farmers $400 million a year.

The bacterium is an endophyte, from the Greek for "inside a plant."

Scientists at the private firm took a gene from another bacterium called Bacillus thuringiensis

(Bt), long used to safely control many pests, and put it into the endophyte. The gene is the one that causes Bt to produce its natural bug killer.

At the meeting the director of the research center at Beltsville, Waldemar Klassen, will outline the test. Then he and representatives from Crop Genetics International will answer questions.
